SHAFT DOWN 250 FEET.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

C. W. Mitchell, consulting engineer, and F. J. Bleakley, secretary of the Victor Mining company, came in last evening from the company's camp in the Bradshaw mountains, south of Harrington. Mr. Mitchell stated that the new compartment shaft on the Victor was now down to a depth of 250 feet, and that there was an excellent ore showing in the bottom of the shaft, as well as in the faces of the drifts being run from the different levels. He also said that the compartment recently started on the Pacific Copper company's holdings, only a short distance from the Victor, was now down 35 feet, and that everything had been put in shape for the installation of the new hoisting plant as soon as it is delivered on the ground.

The holdings of both concerns are located in the lower Bradshaw mountains, along the line of the proposed wagon road from Harrington to Columbia. McLaws, against the Attee Land and Cattle company, to restrain that concern from using a flow of water on land owned by the company which the plaintiff says he has been in peaceful possession of for the past five years. The water is tributary to the Colorado river and rises on land claimed by the company. Some time ago the company started pumping water for its own use, and McLaws, who claims it by right of appropriation for the use of his farm further down the stream, instituted injunction proceedings. The court held the matter in abeyance, pending a further effort of the parties to reach an agreement.

PROSPECTS FOR ABROGATE THE PEACE ARE SLIGHT ON C. & A.

THE HAGUE, June 14.—With representatives of forty-six countries gathered here for the opening of the second peace conference, which will take place tomorrow, there is a great difference in sentiment between this and the opening of the first conference. Eight years ago the hopes of the world were high and there were visions of disarmament, and banishment of war. Today the delegates meet in a more practical and sober spirit. Two wars have been fought since 1899, the military budgets are heavier, and the prospects of making a step in the limitation of armaments is very slight. There is liable to be a dispute over the question of publicity. Germany supports publicity this time, and the others will be responsible for secrecy if it is maintained.

The Hague Is Decorated.

THE HAGUE, June 14.—This city is decorated with the flags of all nations in readiness for the opening of the peace conference tomorrow.

CUTS OFF HER HAND IN RELIGIOUS FRENZY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 14.—Helen Hurley, a middle-aged widow of this city, in an insane religious frenzy, today cut off her left hand, threw it behind a trunk in her room, then went to the St. Vibiana cathedral, where she knelt before the altar some time in prayer, after which she returned to her home, and was discovered in a fainting condition, occasioned by the loss of blood, and rushed to a hospital. It is thought she will recover. Her marriage had prevented her being a nun, and she thought her marriage was a great sin. Her wedding ring was on her left hand.

WOULDN'T COOK HIS MEALS, SO HE COOKED HER.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 14.—Because his wife wouldn't cook his meals, Charles Hamilton, a stone mason, last night threw a pot of boiling water on his wife, scalding her to such an extent it is feared the woman cannot survive. Her flesh was literally cooked by the boiling water. Hamilton was arrested.

SMITHY TRIED TO SLEEP WITH THE ALLIGATOR

(From Saturday's Daily.)
Because he refused to allow him to sleep alongside the young alligator he received, Thursday, from the swamps of Louisiana, Coy Carey was assaulted yesterday evening, about 7:30 o'clock, in front of his place of business on North Cortez street, by a man known as "Smithy," who, in turn, received a sound thrashing from Carey and was later provided with a couch in the county jail.

Smithy went into Carey's place early in the evening, in an intoxicated condition, and after indulging in some liquid refreshments, walked into the back yard, with a few congenial companions, to see the Louisiana curiosity. He fell asleep on a bench alongside the alligator's cage. Smithy's snoring did not appear to be enjoyable music to the arrival from Louisiana, which sought refuge in the water beneath.

Carey was attracted to the back yard, and aroused Smithy and informed him that "sleepers" were not allowed on the premises. Smithy became enraged, and left the place, promising to return. A little later he met Carey on the sidewalk in front of the place, and without uttering a word stepped up behind and landed a blow on Carey's jaw, almost knocking him down. Carey, however, recovered quickly from the jab and returned a right-hander which sent the warlike Smithy to the sidewalk. He arose and went to Carey again. Deputy Sheriff John Merritt appeared as the smoke of battle was clearing away, and took Smithy into custody. Chief of Police Prince arrived a few minutes later and assisted Officer Merritt in escorting Smithy to the county jail. One of the front windows of Carey's place was broken in the affray.
